Chapter 3 Discussion Questions

No More Perfect Kids

Dig Deep

- 1) Can you identify one way you've had an unrealistic expectation for your child?
- 2) Take the "True or False" quiz on page 50. How did you score?
- 3) Are you a "Yes Mom?" Why or why not?
- 4) Do you compare your child to other kids? Siblings? The imaginary perfect child? Yourself?
- 5) What is one thing you highlighted/noted as you read? Why did it strike you as important?

Apply (choose any or all)

- 1) Which antidote listed on page 66-68, do you most need to put into practice when it comes to loving your imperfect kids? Write yourself a note to remember the antidote you're working on.
- 2) Write each of your children a love note. Tell them what you love about them. Affirm their strengths and how they bring joy to your life. If they are too young to read it, tuck it away in their baby book or journal. If they can read, put it on their pillow so they will find it.
- 3) Print out the "First Corinthians 13 for Parents" printable found in the Additional Resources section of Video 3 at www.NoMorePerfectMoms.com. Post it somewhere where you are reminded of how to love your child well.

Pray

Lord, thank you for our unique children. We stand amazed at who they are and we look forward to what you have in store for them in the future. Help us to love them more like you love. Let us see them through eyes of grace. Help me to keep my expectations realistic and to embrace the season of mothering I'm in to the fullest. In Jesus' Name. Amen.
