

No More Perfect Moms

Chapter 9 Discussion Questions

No More Perfect Homemaking

Dig Deep

- 1) What do you struggle with the most: making meals, decorating, extending hospitality? What do you think is at the heart of your struggles?
- 2) Can you share a time when you've been on the receiving end of hospitality? How did it make you feel?
- 3) How was homemaking handled in your family of origin? Did your mother model meal making, decorating, or hospitality for you?
- 4) What is one thing you highlighted/noted as you read this chapter? Why did it strike you as important?

Apply

Stretch yourself in some way this week. Offer hospitality either at home or on-the-road by caring more about making someone feel special than your own comfort. Invite someone over or reach out and help someone this week. Think about blessing them and you'll likely find yourself feeling blessed as well.

Choose one antidote to apply this week. Brainstorm with the group some ways to practically make progress in applying the antidote to your imperfect homemaking.

Pray

Lord, you were an expert in making others feel valued and welcome. Show me how to see others through your eyes. Help me to leave my insecurities at your feet and to trust you to show me how to be your hands and feet to the people around me. In Jesus' Name. Amen.